WHY SHOULD ATTEND

The workshop will be timely, in view of Indonesia's decreasing oil production and the need for major new discoveries to replace aging fields and close the expanding domestic energy gap. The focus will be on the regional seismic systems in term of structural and stratigraphic from fields in Indonesia such as Natuna, Timor, Andaman, and Papua.

The intention is to share and discuss the various seismic sections examples across Indonesia basins. It will also, of course, be an excellent networking forum to connect and discuss geoscience and business opportunities with colleagues and peers.
